BEECHER'S HANDMADE CHEESE

Beecher's has been making cheese in plain sight since 2003, when founder Kurt Beecher Dammeier opened a glass-walled kitchen in Seattle's Pike Place Market, so shoppers could watch every batch being made. Each cheese starts with fresh milk from local farms and uses traditional methods with no artificial ingredients. Their Flagship Reserve is regularly named the best clothbound cheddar in America by the American Cheese Society, and Beecher's cheeses have won the society's top Best of Show award three times.

FERNDALE FARMSTEAD
SEED TO CHEESE

Ferndale Farmstead is the story of three generations of the Wavrin Family, who transformed their passion for farming into a true seed-to-cheese tradition. From growing feed and raising cows to crafting artisan cheeses on the same farm, every step stays in their hands. Inspired by Italian cheesemaking heritage and rooted in the Pacific Northwest, Ferndale Farmstead creates exceptional cheeses that reflect the land, the family, and a commitment to quality that spans generations.

DANIEL'S
ARTISAN

Daniel's Artisan transforms the flavors of Washington into unforgettable cheese. Founded by cheesemaker Daniel Wavrin, the brand blends creativity, craftsmanship, and local partnerships to produce small-batch, award-winning cheeses inspired by the Pacific Northwest. From vineyard-washed wheels to bold chile-rubbed originals, every cheese reflects a passion for quality and a deep connection to place. More than a craft creamery, Daniel's Artisan is creating a tradition, bringing together farmers, makers, retailers, and food lovers through exceptional cheese and shared community.

Appel Farms began with one young Dutch immigrant's dream of becoming a farmer. After learning dairying and cheesemaking in Europe, Jack Appel built that dream into a family farm in Ferndale, Washington. Today, multiple generations continue the tradition, handcrafting farmstead cheeses with the same passion, hard work, and commitment to quality that started it all. Every wheel reflects a family legacy rooted in perseverance, craftsmanship, and a love for sharing great cheese.

Twin Sisters Creamery began with a dream, a family, and a shared passion for great cheese. Inspired by their twin daughters, Lindsay Slevin and Jeff Slevin combined their expertise to build an artisan creamery dedicated to crafting exceptional, award-winning cheeses. Starting with their signature Whatcom Blue, they turned determination into a thriving business rooted in community, education, and local agriculture. Today, Twin Sisters Creamery is known for creating memorable cheeses that bring people together and celebrate the best of Washington.

Cascadia Creamery was born from a love of place and a desire to revive Trout Lake's lost cheesemaking heritage. After settling in the shadow of Mount Adams, John Shuman and Marci Ebeling transformed the region's volcanic soil, glacial waters, and historic lava tube caves into the foundation for extraordinary artisan cheese. Their organic, cave-aged cheeses capture the true taste of Cascadia, where land, tradition, and craftsmanship come together in every wheel.

Rogue Creamery began in 1933 as a cooperative created to support Southern Oregon dairy farmers during the Great Depression. Over the decades, pioneering cheesemakers transformed it into an artisan cheese icon, introducing some of the West Coast's first cave-aged blue cheeses inspired by traditions learned in Roquefort, France. Today, Rogue Creamery crafts internationally acclaimed cheeses rooted in the rich terroir of the Rogue Valley, honoring a legacy of craftsmanship, innovation, and community.

Tillamook began in 1909 when Oregon dairy farmers joined forces to create a farmer-owned cooperative dedicated to making exceptional dairy products. Built on hard work, stewardship, and a commitment to quality, generations of farmer-owners have carried that mission forward. Today, Tillamook's award-winning cheeses reflect more than a century of craftsmanship, proving that when farmers work together with care for the land and their animals, great dairy follows.

FACE ROCK CREAMERY

Face Rock Creamery was founded in 2013 to revive Bandon, Oregon's rich cheesemaking heritage. Named for the iconic Face Rock sea stack along the coast, the creamery combines time-honored techniques, fresh regional milk, and small-batch craftsmanship to create award-winning cheeses. Rooted in a deep connection to place, every wheel reflects the flavors, traditions, and spirit of Oregon's coast, bringing a true taste of Bandon to cheese lovers everywhere.
